Calling all vagina supporters! Have a knack for graphic design? Passionate about supporting local non-profits working against gender-based violence? Want to get involved in a UNC theatre production?

Come to The Vagina Monologues Interest meeting:

Wednesday January 15th, 5-6pm in The Student Union, Room 3411

The Co-Directors and Producer of UNC’s English-speaking production of “The Vagina Monologues” are seeking a team of dedicated and creative people of any race, gender, and sexual orientation to fill the following roles:

Event Planning/Publicity: Individuals on this team will be in charge of planning events to raise money and advertise the show to UNC students and community members. Past events include a dance night at CHUG and a benefit night at YoPo. This team will contact local businesses and individuals for donations, will be in charge of putting up posters, managing VDay Carolina’s social media presence, and organizing VWeek Events. If you are social and love organizing and collaborating with others, this team is for you!

Design: Individuals on this team will be designing a publicity poster and Vagina Monologues T-shirt for the cast and crew, and to sell at performances of the show. The profits from the t-shirt sales will benefit the Orange County Rape Crisis Center. This role is perfect for people who already have some experience in graphic design and who can work on a timeline.

Stage Manager: The role of stage manager will include being present at weekly rehearsals, communicating with co-directors Katie Byerly and Amanda Baldiga, Producer Lynslei Harris, and the VM cast, organizational and administrative tasks, and being a part of creative decisions regarding the final production. Stage Management is both an opportunity to exercise leadership skills and be part of a passionate and inclusive team. Stage Manager responsibilities would last from the beginning of January until February 16th and will have a flexible schedule.

Stage Hands: Individuals on this team will work with our Producer to make sure the dress rehearsals and final performances of “The Vagina Monologues” go smoothly. Responsibilities may include line readings, taking tickets, ushering, some technical work, communicating with actors and directors, and being present during the final performances on the weekend of February 14th. If you have limited weekday time and want to contribute to a production of exciting theatre, this team might fit you best!

We will be having an interest meeting for interested individuals from 5:00-6:00 pm on Wednesday January 15th in The Student Union, Room 3411. If are interested in joining but can’t attend the meeting, let us know at vdaycarolina@gmail.com and you can still get involved. Can’t wait to hear from you!

Co-Directors Katie Byerly and Amanda Baldiga

Producer Lynslei Harris

Please keep in mind we are looking for a group of diverse individuals to work on this show! So if you don’t identify as a feminist or are nervous about being the only male-identified person involved in a show about vaginas, don’t hesitate to contact us or come out anyway! We promise we’d love to have you.
